

The Laboratory of Applied Biosciences and Ecology

Ecological investigations and assessment of the state of soil and water resources, as well as molecular genetic and ecological investigations of biodiversity are being conducted.